Continuous offer for two internships (lasting at least 3 months)

Since 2001, Notengrafik Berlin has been a leading firm in the graphic realization of all aspects of music notation. A focal point of our work is the production of first performance materials for international music publishers. An increasingly important area in our work is the development of digital workflows, tools and data conversion.

This offer is aimed at students from the fields of music, musicology and composition as well as computer science, audio communication, etc. (preferably from a more advanced semester).

We expect a minimum of 25 hours per week; full time would be ideal.

Your tasks:

- Orthography and typography of professional music notation (introduction)
- Collaboration on individual projects
- Support in editorial decision-making
- Proofreading
- General office work
- Internet research

Conditions:

- Languages: German and English required -- Romance or Slavic languages are welcome
- Knowledge of the standard Office programs is required
- Music software experience in the field of notation and layout. Also, software development experience is welcome
- Music performance experience is a plus
- Interest in contemporary music
- Teamwork, curiosity, lateral thinking and the ability to think for oneself
